RDOS Statement on BC's Restart Plan

---

The Regional District of Okanagan-Similkameen (RDOS) is taking steps to welcome visitors back to the region as part of the BC Restart Plan. According to the province, Phase 3 of the plan includes the safe and respectful return of travel and tourism.

“The reopening plan is a vital part of recovery efforts for businesses,” says RDOS Chair Karla Kozakevich. “And while we welcome travellers from across B.C. and other provinces, we’re reminding everyone to continue following provincial health guidelines to prevent the spread of COVID-19.”

- Practice good hygiene, including frequent hand washing and cleaning
- Maintain a safe physical distance
- Stay home if you feel unwell

Provincial guidelines advise all travellers within B.C. to be respectful of the communities you visit by spending time in small groups and open spaces.

Anyone who is sick or develops symptoms should self-isolate immediately and contact 811 for guidance and testing.
